West Is Divided On Disarmament

Dulles Seeks Accord As U.N. Group Reaches Aug. 1 Deadline

LONDON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles conferred nonstop with the Western Allies Wednesday and saw the Soviet delegate too in a drive to get some accord on disarmament.

It was reported substantial problems still divided the West in closed talks as the U. N. Disarmament subcommittee reached the Aug. 1 deadline set for this year's session.

The differences among the Allies were reported to be on ways of stopping a nuclear arms race. Western officials made it clear some detail will have to be referred back to government heads for decision.

Britain has been reluctant to agree to any immediate halt in tests of newly developed H-bombs. France has made clear that so long as nuclear weapons production continues it wants to develop its own weapons.

Dulles was reported to have won Western approval for pushing the open skies inspection plan originally advanced by President Eisenhower, and for continuing the meetings beyond the deadline. The idea of going on also reportedly has Russian approval now.

Must Prepare Report
The United States, Britain, France, Canada and the Soviet Union are members of the subcommittee. They must prepare a report on their talks for the 12-nation U. N. Disarmament Commission, which in turn is to report to the U. N. General Assembly opening in mid-September.

Dulles flew here Monday under orders from Eisenhower to get some agreement out of the conference.

Some Agreement
Informants said the West is also ready to announce acceptance of Soviet Premier Bulganin's general idea of ground inspection by international teams at key ports, airfields and rail junctions, but only to check on suspicions of sky inspectors.

The secretary dined Wednesday night with British Prime Minister Memilian, Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and U. S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney.

Meets Zorin
Dulles met Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin for the first time at a working luncheon attended by all five delegations.

Harold E. Stassen, the U. S. subcommittee delegate, probably will suggest at a meeting Friday these three main zones where sky inspection can be started — and Russia will be invited to accept any or all of them:

Main Zones
1. An expanding region focusing on the Arctic Circle. It could take in Alaska, the Aleutians, part of Canada and Danish Greenland, and corresponding chunks of East Siberia, Kamchatka and the Kuriles.

irate Husband Runs Car Over Brother

CHICAGO (AP) — An enraged husband ran over his brother with an automobile Wednesday, police said, after the brother had made advances to his wife.

Confession Sanchez, 23, suffered a broken arm and leg, police reported, when he was struck by a car driven by Ramon Sanchez, 28, a candy maker.

Ramon told police he was at work when his wife, Eduarda, 26, telephoned that Confession had visited her at home and made advances. She resisted and Confession departed. Ramon quoted his wife.

Ramon said he left work immediately for home where both he and his wife quarreled with Confession in the street. Ramon related that he then went to his car and ran down Confession as he was walking away.

Ramon was held without charge.

U.S. Aids Russia In Using A- Energy For Cancer Research

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission disclosed Wednesday it has given Russia a helping hand in using atomic energy for cancer research.

And here at home, it said, tiny atomic batteries have been developed that may eventually lead to atomic power plants for equipment in space ships.

Making its 22nd semi-annual report to Congress, the commission revealed it has permitted an American firm to ship radioactive isotopes to Russia. It reported that a small amount of carbon 14 was released for use by a Moscow laboratory.

Also outlined was development of a dime-sized atomic battery that the commission said may eventually make possible larger models to power "equipment in guided missiles and space craft."

It said the battery is still experimental but can now power a wrist watch for five years.

The battery is virtually unaffected by extremes of temperature and humidity, the AEC said. It did not say who developed the battery.

Disclosure of the first isotope shipment to Russia came in a discussion of stepped-up use both at home and abroad of American-made radioactive isotopes for medical, agricultural and industrial applications.

A commission spokesman said the license to export the material to Russia had been obtained from the AEC by the Chemoso Corp. of New York City, one of the American firms that process isotopes originally obtained from AEC.

The spokesman said he did not know whether Russia's action in seeking to obtain a quantity of the isotope in this country was any indication that the Russians wouldn't produce it themselves. Carbon-14—produced in an atomic reactor by bombarding a certain chemical with atomic rays—is made routinely in this country, he said.

In sections of the report dealing with military applications, the AEC said:

"The commission continued production of a variety of nuclear weapons, including weapons for defense, in accordance with presidential directive. Expansion of research and development and production facilities proceeded according to schedule.

"During the period of this report, emphasis continued on research and development activities designed to improve and increase the United States arsenal of nuclear weapons.

"Development programs continued on weapons employing new design principles which can be used more effectively for defensive purposes."

Up to now, the administration has proposed the return of individual owned assets up to $10,000 to a person to German and Japanese nationals while the property of corporations would not have been returned.

Wednesday's statement by Hagerty, which he said should be regarded as a statement of administration intention, drew no differences between individual and corporate property.

Seized German assets are estimated at about $41 million dollars. Japanese assets at $4 million. The assets question dates back to the years immediately after World War II. International agreements between the victorious Allies provided for confiscating enemy property in lieu of reparations. In the 1952 Bonn convention, Germany agreed to compensate German citizens for the loss of their property in this country.

Probers Accuse Hoffa Of Alliance With Racketeers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rackets probers accused teamster leader James R. Hoffa Wednesday of an unholy alliance with racketeers in a scheme to win control of the whole Eastern seaboard.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) opening a series of hearings that may last for weeks, said the big step in the alleged conspiracy was for Hoffa, with the aid of hoodlums, to gain "a stranglehold over the port of New York."

"One of the interesting facets we expect to show," McClellan said, "is that at times the hoodlums used Communists or former Communists because they were excellent trained organizers and knew all the tricks to get membership."

"The economic factors are tremendous," the chairman declared. "Such power placed in the hands of persons affiliated with racketeers is a danger to the welfare of the nation."

Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.), a member of McClellan's Senate Rackets Investigations committee, agreed. Mundt said the committee has evidence to expose "a form of tyranny unfolding which in the long run offers to Communist conspirators an opportunity to paralyze our defense establishment and our offensive striking powers."

FARM PRODUCTS UP
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reported Wednesday that farm product prices increased 123 per cent between mid-June and mid-July.

Higher prices received for meat animals, dairy products, poultry and eggs were primarily responsible for the upturn.

The mid-July price level was 1.64 per cent above that of a year ago but about 22.5 per cent below the record high set in February 1951.

Prices paid by farmers for goods and services used in production and family living declined about one-third of 1 per cent during the month ended July 15.

Ike Will Propose New School Bill Next Year

DENIES FREEDOM—Gov. William Stratton dramatically announced to waiting newsmen that he has denied the plea of "thrill killer" Nathan Leopold for executive clemency to reduce to 64 his 85 year sentence for the murder of Bobby Franks, and thus permit Leopold to go free this year.

Churchill Lauds U.S. Supreme Court, Calls For Changes In U.N.

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill Wednesday night paid tribute to the U. S. Supreme Court and called for changes in the United Nations possibly limiting the powers of small nations.

Speaking to 3,000 U. S. lawyers here for the American Bar Assn. convention, the 82-year-old statesman said the Supreme Court is the guardian and upholder of American liberty.

"Long may it continue to thrive!" he told the banquet in Guildhall. Three Supreme Court justices were in his audience.

Churchill told the lawyers their visit to England is remarkable and "illuminates a great truth."

He added: "In the main, law and equity stand in the forefront of the moral forces which our two countries have in common, and rank with our common language in that store of bonds of unity on which I firmly believe our life and destiny depend."

"You are 160 millions and we with our dominions gathered round us, are 70 or 80 millions, and if we work together there is no doubt that we shall represent a factor in the development of the whole world which no one will have cause to regret."

Turning to the U. N., Churchill said he agreed with Australia's Prime Minister Robert Menzies that justice is not being achieved in the U. N.

"I do not throw in my lot with those who say that Britain should leave the U. N.," Churchill said.

"But it is certain that if the Assembly continues to take its decisions on grounds of enmity, opportunism or mere jealousy and petulance, the whole structure may be brought to nothing."

He said differences among the great powers have thrown increasing responsibility on the U. N. Assembly, now swollen by new members to 81 nations.

"We wish these new nations well," he said. "Indeed, we created many of them and have done our best since to ensure their integrity and prosperity."

"But it is anomalous that the vote or prejudice of any small country should affect events involving populations many times its own numbers and affect them as momentary self-advantage may direct."

"This should be changed."

Lewis And Clark Descendants Meet, Form Society

EAST ALTON, Ill. (AP) — A group of 35 persons forming the Lewis and Clark Society of America met Tuesday night, with descendants of both of the famed explorers present.

On hand for the meeting were William Clark, grandson of Capt. William Clark, and Gilson Brown, an Alton lawyer who traces his lineage back to Capt. Meriwether Lewis.

It was near East Alton that the two Army officers and their party began their trip up the Missouri River to explore the northwestern area of the United States in 1804-1806.

Charles Gabbert, superintendent of schools at East Alton, has been named temporary chairman of the new organization, formed to "perpetuate the genius and traditions" of Lewis and Clark.

In 1966 the freshman class in engineering in United States universities was 77,000.

Denounces Criticism Of Lack Of Leadership

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, defending himself against criticism of lack of leadership, said he will have another school bill ready for the next congressional session.

Eisenhower told a news conference that, "You don't influence Congress, in my opinion, by threats." He said he thinks the way for a president to work with Congress is "in a quiet conversational way by the telephone and informal meetings."

The question of presidential leadership, influence and cooperation with Congress arose in discussions of the school bill killed in the House, the foreign aid bill which is in trouble there, and the civil rights battle in the Senate. Eisenhower took a deep breath and said:

Predict Break In Drought In Northeast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Weather Bureau predicted drought-breaking rains during August in most areas east of the Appalachian Mountains.

It also said in a 30-day outlook that it will be cooler than usual for the season during the next month in much of the East and Northwest.

The bureau said the outlook for the month calls for:

"Temperatures to average below seasonal normals from the Ohio and Lower Mississippi valleys eastward to the Atlantic Seaboard. Below normal is also predicted for central and northern areas west of the Continental Divide. Above normal temperatures are in prospect for the central third of the nation with greatest departures over the Northern Plains. In areas not specified near normal is indicated."

"Precipitation amounts for the month as a whole are expected to equal or exceed normal over most areas of the Appalachians and provide relief from the drought which has prevailed over much of this area. Above normal rainfall is also anticipated over the southern plateau and coastal areas of the Pacific Northwest. Subnormal rainfall is indicated over the Central and Southern Plains. In areas not specified above or below normal amounts are predicted."

On Civil Rights
"So," he said, "I support the bill as it now stands, earnestly, and I hope that it will be passed soon."

It was a news conference sprinkled with hilarity, presidential anger, and a disclaimer that Eisenhower is a millionaire. The President also advised reporters that it is easier to quit smoking than one thinks — "If a person turns their mind to something else and quits playing themselves about it."

That word came from a man who once was a heavy smoker and found it easier to stop than "to be more moderate about it."

Ask About Fortune
Asked about a series of newspaper articles in which his fortune was estimated at a million dollars, the chief executive got a room-rocking response of laughter with a remark that, "If that man who knows so much about my (Continued On Page Nine)"

Efforts To Spot Menard Prison Escapes Fruitless

DUQUOIN, Ill. (AP) — State police district headquarters at DuQuoin here late Wednesday said their land and air efforts to spot three men identified as Menard Prison escapees had been fruitless.

But state patrolmen, aided by FBI agents and local authorities and a police plane from Springfield, still searched the area. The trio was reported seen early Wednesday on Rt. 146 traveling east in a stolen car.

A Missouri motorist, Harvey Petot, 23, of Menfro, told officers early Wednesday three of four convicts who fled the Menard Prison farm early Sunday bound him and took his 1949 Oldsmobile. Petot said the three, armed with six pistols, told him they had escaped.

He quoted them as saying a fourth companion drowned in the quartet swam the Mississippi River to Missouri.

The four fugitives were Joe Bill Strang, 26, Albertsville, Ala.; Clarence Newberry, 31, St. Louis; Millard Carille, 35, of Benton, Ill.; and Francis M. Murphy, 65, of Terre Haute, Ind.

Petot said three of the men who stole his car in Missouri and dumped him, bound, in Illinois said Murphy drowned. Murphy had been afflicted with an ailment that left him crippled.

Warden Ross Randolph of Menard said a prison patrol boat probably would make a run down the Mississippi in search for a body.

Postal Workers Plan Prayer Meet.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Some 200 post office workers disclosed plans Wednesday for an outdoor prayer meeting seeking divine guidance in obtaining President Eisenhower's signature on a pay raise bill.

The Senate now is considering a House approved bill which would add up to an average $8 weekly take-home salary increase for the nation's post office employees.

The prayer is set up for 3 p.m. Thursday in the Springfield Post Office building corner, an open area behind the building.

The Rev. John S. Brockmeier, pastor of Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church and chaplain of the Illinois Federation of Labor, will lead the prayer.

Post office officials said there would be no disruption in mail service as a result of the mass prayer meeting.

Leopold Says He'll Never Give Up Efforts To Get Out Of Jail

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — Nathan Leopold, his chance for unconditional release from prison crushed, said Wednesday:

"I stand at the open gateway of my hopes (and I am still) glorying the name of God. Everything in religion agrees on one thing—This will be done. This apparently is His will."

The thrill lawyer of Bobby Franks referred to Governor William G. Stratton's denial Tuesday of executive clemency—the reduction of Leopold's 85-year prison sentence.

But Leopold said he will never give up his efforts to get out of prison.

Leopold attempted his "perfect crime" in 1934 as a youth of 19 with Richard Loeb, 18. Loeb was stabbed to death by a fellow St. Louis inmate in 1936.

In turning down Leopold's request, Stratton said he followed the unanimous recommendation of the five-member State Parole and Pardon Board.

The governor said Leopold "is eligible for parole consideration and may file a petition for a hearing of his case at any time."

Leopold said: "I wonder if any judge would have the same opinion today. He could have made certain I would not be paroled by sentencing me to 101, 119 or 120 years. What a judge says and what a judge does are two different things."

Leopold had asked the governor to cut his sentence to 64 years. That would have made him eligible for discharge in December when he would have served half his sentence — 32 years, plus 15 months. Leopold now has served 33 years.

Pound-Pound-Pound

Up to now we've been studiously avoiding any pompous judgments on the subject of rock and roll. Too many warnings from the experts to lay off.

The psychologists keep saying that if the adults harp on it that puts the youngsters on the defensive, makes martyrs of 'em and just heightens our chances of hearing the stuff indefinitely.

Now and then some cultural expert comes along and says we'd better be careful about criticizing "new forms" in music or anything else. You never can be sure that what you're attacking may not be the cultural wave of the future. After all, they hissed Brahms' stuff the first time it was heard in a concert hall.

Warnings like these should be enough to intimidate anybody. But now and then the spirit of rebellion simply gets out of hand, and warnings tend to go by the board.

That's how it is now, after listening to the complaints of a friend who had an unusually extended exposure to rock and roll.

The fellow was making a long, solitary journey in his car. Thus trapped, he naturally turned to the radio for companionhip. He'd always heard that radio was the friend of the shut-ins, and here he was shut inside his four-door sedan.

Well, after about five hours of it he felt like a victim of Communist brainwashing and torture. Rock and roll pounding inside a sedan was like having some torture specialist put a pail over his head and beat it steadily with a club.

The radio gave him companionhip all right — the fellowship of endless noise. Once in a great while a harmless old-fashioned tune crept onto the airwaves. It was like having the stick-beater take five for a cigarette.

Eventually he decided he didn't want friendship that much. In the manner of a man pronouncing judgment on a whole era, he switched off the radio. Mercifully, the pounding stopped. Only the whistling wind assailed his ears.

He went the remaining half dozen hours in virtual silence. It was pretty lonesome, but oh so peaceful. And singing in his head he could now and then hear some of the pleasant tunes from an age when popular music was something to enjoy rather than to combat.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Just as lovers develop their own language, so do businessmen.

So (for that matter) do circus performers, soda jerks, college professors, psychiatrists, and men who rise early in the morning to open up banks with a gun.

Some individuals even—such as Sam Goldwyn—develop a private lingo that becomes a public job. But right now greatest interest centers in two new weird and wonderful languages—one spoken by the teen-ager, the other by the man in the gray flannel suit.

This second language—now known as "businessman's bebop"—originated in the ivory tower world of advertising has spread through out all industry with the speed of chickenpox in a kindergarten.

Edward M. Meyers, a merchandising and sales promotion expert, has collected a number of these "gray flannelisms" overheard in conferences in many executive suites.

Here are a few, selected at random, for the young go-getter who wants to up his conference vocabulary:

"What this idea needs is more of an idea."

"Let's stick antlers on it and see if it scratches."

"As long as the boss doesn't have to do it nothing is impossible."

"Let's put it on a scale and see if it's gained any weight."

"Let's get down to where the rubber meets the road."

"It needs a transfusion and the account executive isn't our blood type."

"Let's not just stand around with our backs against the hot pipe."

"Let's follow it down the road and see what it eats."

"I don't know about the rest of you, but I'm ready to pitch a tent and dig for worms."

"Let's drive it into the parking lot and see if we dent any fenders."

"Let's give it a name and see if someone will adopt it."

"Let's wash it and see if it shrinks."

"He's not interested in winners—he just wants to know if it can make the stable."

"Let's take it up the stairs and see if it wheezes."

"Let's not X-ray it. We might see it too clearly."

"Let's anchor it in deep water."

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D. (Written for NEA Service)

Artists sketch the scenes which they see prior to beginning to paint. Sometimes they outline many pictures before they ever touch a brush. Frequently sketches will not be looked at for many months.

The sketches are aids to their memory. They are mere frameworks or ideas on which the living scene will be constructed. Often penciled lines on a white sheet of paper carry the potential of a work of art.

God sketches our lives and we fill in the picture. He gives us the potential of making our lives beautiful or ugly. We can touch the canvas of our characters with subtle shades of warmth or with broad swaths of incongruity.

God's outline is clear. It is an aid to our memory and to our creative talent. However, the finished pictures of our lives and souls are up to us. We must fill in the outline with our fully living

In Hollywood

By JAMES BACON

(For BOB THOMAS)

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ever hear of Harry and Doty Jameson? No? Then you're not a headwaiter at a swank nightclub or a celebrity.

All headwaiters and celebrities know the Jamesons.

The Jamesons have one of the world's most expensive hobbies—attending night club openings.

Naturally, they're well-heeled.

Once Harry and Doty took a plane to London just because Lena Horne, one of their top favorites, was opening at a smart West End club.

Lena, recalling the incident, admits that she was most happy to see them but not in the least surprised.

"I probably would have been more surprised had they not been at ringside," says Lena.

The Jamesons hop to Las Vegas, New York and in-between spots much as you and I would go to the neighborhood movie.

But that's all changed now, as witness the results of the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes.

Iron Liege won the Kentucky Derby. Bold Ruler the Preakness and Gallant Man the Belmont. All raced at Hialeah last February.

These were never spelled out very clearly in any public statement. Wilson discussed the report in general terms at a press conference, but never did get specific.

A woman isn't really grown up until—

She can have a good time at a party, even though she is wearing an old or not too becoming dress.

She can get real pleasure from making someone else happy.

She has learned a sure cure for feeling low, whether it is buying a new hat, baking a cake, visiting a sick friend, planning a party, or working in the yard.

She can dismiss an unkind or tactless remark instead of brooding over it.

She realizes that her children weren't put upon the earth to fulfill her dreams, but their own.

The Cugat, Xavier and Abbe Lane, are close friends. Once the Jamesons flew to Spain when the Cugat band played in a Barcelona bull ring.

When not nightclubbing, the Jamesons live in a $250,000 home in Beverly Hills. It's one of the few $250,000 homes with only two bedrooms.

Harry is a millionaire. He made it from storage batteries and Oregon lumber interests. He is a big spender and big tipper.

The Jamesons' reason for loving nightclub acts so much is simple.

"We just get fun out of it," says Harry. And they do. Both are excellent dancers, especially to Latin rhythms.

His hobby doesn't come cheap as Harry always insists on picking up the check and never comes without famous guests to an opening.

One year Ciro's reported that the Jamesons' annual tab was close to $20,000—not including tips.

BRITISH SEEK FOURTH TUNA TITLE

WEDGEPORT, N. S. (AP)—The British will seek to become the first four-time winner of the 20-year-old International Tuna Cup Match to be held here Sept. 10-14.

The British won the title last year for the third time.

T. J. Wheeler of Toronto says his squad will include A. C. De Villiers of Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia; Dr. J. C. Nel of Transvaal, South Africa; Eric B. Molter of Hongkong; Maj. Cyril H. Frisby of Surrey, England; Harry Thurston of Devonshire, Bermuda; and Alfred Trask of Yarmouth, N. S.

Trask, who lives only 100 miles from here, won the 1956 match with a big bluffin.

The Commonwealth teams also won in 1937 and 1951.

Symington Blasts Military For Lack of Clear Policy

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—A large part of the confusion over this year's national defense budget is attributed to nuclear military policy, according to Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.).

Senator Symington is a former secretary of the Air Force, former chairman of National Security Resources Board and now a member of Government Operations and Armed Service committees.

He was an all-out advocate of predominant air power while he was in the Pentagon. Today he complains that each service wants to be in a position to fight the next war all by itself.

Each service makes its decisions unilaterally without reference to the others.

The results is waste.

Symington's theory is that 30 per cent of defense costs could be saved if the services would give up their traditional roles.

He maintains that the Air Force has a lot of stuff it doesn't need.

We don't have the right kind of Navy.

MARINE CORPS size is fixed by law instead of by strategic needs.

The Army's "modernized" defense based on the Nike is worthless because its range is too short.

These and many other factors lead the senator to the conclusion that the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff should be forced to get together on a new policy.

The coming retirement of Adm. Arthur W. Radford as Chairman of the Joint Chiefs, on Aug. 15, and his succession by Air Force Gen. Nathan F. Twining provide the opportunity.

The background of this situation, according to Senator Symington, is that there has been no major reassessment of armed forces functions since the Key West and Newport huddles of generals and admirals in 1949.

The actual record shows this assumption may be misleading and is not quite correct.

In 1953 the Eisenhower administration produced its "new look." From July 15 to Aug. 15, 1953, the Joint Chiefs huddled under President Eisenhower's orders. They were Admirals Radford and Twining. They delivered their recommendations to Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

THESE WERE never spelled out very clearly in any public statement. Wilson discussed the report in general terms at a press conference, but never did get specific.

He maintains that the Air Force has a lot of stuff it doesn't need.

We don't have the right kind of Navy.

MARINE CORPS size is fixed by law instead of by strategic needs.

The Army's "modernized" defense based on the Nike is worthless because its range is too short.

These and many other factors lead the senator to the conclusion that the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff should be forced to get together on a new policy.

The coming retirement of Adm. Arthur W. Radford as Chairman of the Joint Chiefs, on Aug. 15, and his succession by Air Force Gen. Nathan F. Twining provide the opportunity.

The background of this situation, according to Senator Symington, is that there has been no major reassessment of armed forces functions since the Key West and Newport huddles of generals and admirals in 1949.

The actual record shows this assumption may be misleading and is not quite correct.

In 1953 the Eisenhower administration produced its "new look." From July 15 to Aug. 15, 1953, the Joint Chiefs huddled under President Eisenhower's orders. They were Admirals Radford and Twining. They delivered their recommendations to Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

THESE WERE never spelled out very clearly in any public statement. Wilson discussed the report in general terms at a press conference, but never did get specific.

A woman isn't really grown up until—

She can have a good time at a party, even though she is wearing an old or not too becoming dress.

She can get real pleasure from making someone else happy.

She has learned a sure cure for feeling low, whether it is buying a new hat, baking a cake, visiting a sick friend, planning a party, or working in the yard.

She can dismiss an unkind or tactless remark instead of brooding over it.

She realizes that her children weren't put upon the earth to fulfill her dreams, but their own.

She can praise another woman or hear her praised without any temptation to add a belittling remark.

She can meet disappointments and frustrations without thinking, "Why did this have to happen to me?"

She realizes that other people don't really want to hear about her troubles.

She can enjoy young people without envying them their youth.

She can be friends without feeling inferior to those who have more than she, and without feeling superior to those less fortunate.

She can be friends without feeling inferior to those who have more than she, and without feeling superior to those less fortunate.

She can be friends without feeling inferior to those who have more than she, and without feeling superior to those less fortunate.

His wife has learned to like the bugs too. The Emersons had a pet tarantula running around the house. It is the kind that is harmless but evil looking.

Mrs. McCarthy Attends Seminar At Washington

Many new insights into the government of the United States have been gained by a nationwide gathering of educators at Washington, D.C., which included one Jacksonville resident.

Among the 75 teachers just completing the second annual Washington Seminar is Mrs. Alva Lee S. McCarthy, 301 N. Church street, a teacher in the Jefferson school.

The varied, five week schedule arranged by the Division of Travel Service and the National Council for the Social Studies, both part of the National Education Association, emphasized "The United States in World Affairs" in the concluding week.

As an example of the seminar's activity in the final four days, the group toured the State Department where they received a global briefing and explanation of the foreign exchange program; visited the Atomic Energy Commission and learned of the "Atoms for Peace" program; went "Around the World in Pictures" at the Washington International Center; toured the Bureau of Engraving and Printing; visited the embassies of Indonesia and the Argentine; were briefed at the United States Information Agency and saw the Voice of America studios; visited the Department of Health, Education and Welfare; and studied the Organization of American States.

High spots in the seminar, according to Mrs. McCarthy were personal interviews with local congressmen and learning of the uses and needs for the Federal Income Tax. Mrs. McCarthy was on the seminar program for the introduction to World Affairs, giving her impressions of people and countries around the world.

MAKES $155 ON 'JUNK'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A 1923 touring car, which sold last week for only $30, has made a 69-year-old woman $155 richer.

The woman who prefers to remain nameless, sold the car to a junk dealer for $30. But when her story was carried in the newspapers and by the Associated Press, the value of the car soared.

The car was left in her garage in 1930 by her husband, who disappeared and has not been heard from since.

The wreck dealer later said he would give the woman all over $100 he got from re-sale of the car. Tuesday, he sold it to Charles Caplin of Hartford, Conn., for $225. Caplin read of the story in his local newspaper.

Fashions For First School Days

BY GAILE DUGAS

NEA Women's Editor
NEW YORK (NEA)—Going back to school is more fun when a girl's dressed for the part. This fall, she'll have lots of fashion choice. There are new versions of the suspender and jumper dresses with their own carefully tailored white pique or linen blouses. Dark apple red is a color becoming to small blondes and brunettes so this is a happy choice for the first day of school. Some of the one-piece dresses imitate boleros for a high-waisted look. And when a girl hasn't yet got much of a waistline of her own, this is important. Mother will approve dresses in fine imported washable wools. Many of these are done in plaids with skirts cut on the bias, box-pleated or gathered full.

There are many browns this fall, in shades from caramel-beige to fudge-brown. But there are blues, reds, grays and greens, too.

We show here (left) plaid in a gingham dress cut princess style. Panel is decorated with tabs of pique and big ocean pearl buttons.

Mock-bolero dress (right) is done in a woven scatter dot of gray-and-white cotton. Make-believe bolero shows bodice of gray cotton satin; cummerbund is pimento color. Both designs are by Celeste.

Kitchen arithmetic: 1 cup of uncooked elbow macaroni (4 ounces) usually makes 2 cups cooked. Count on spaghetti doubling its bulk, too.

Something different by way of flavor: chili sauce and chili powder added to canned baked beans.

"The sitter I had last night had the nerve to tell me to go to bed!"

Farmers Union Leader Says Support Prices Are Too Low, Unfair

"The family-type farm must be preserved and farmers are entitled to and should reach out to the government to fill their needs," declared Ralph Bradley, Illinois president of the National Farmers Union, when he addressed a small group at the courthouse Tuesday evening.

Bradley asserted that "old marketing ways are obsolete. We'll have to meet them at the gate and tell them the price, a fair price. Some of the profits must be left at the gate."

"Farmers are in trouble and need help fast," he said, "and they must share in today's general prosperity."

He quoted what the Farmers Union claims would be fair prices "at the gate. Corn, $2.18 a bushel; beef, $29.15 per hundred pounds; hogs, $28.48; 3.5 milk, $6.28 per hundred; wheat, $2.99; oats, $1.14; soybeans, $3.92, and eggs, 62c."

These prices, Bradley declared, are in line with increased production costs plus a reasonable profit so "every farm family can have a decent living."

He charged that processors are solely to blame for high priced food and said that mills, bakeries, meat packers, dairy processors, canners and food store chains are making immense profits "while the farmer is getting only 52% of what would be a fair price today."

Farmers Union is now organized in 62 counties in Illinois, with a present membership of 9,000. It is the third largest farm organization in the country and is especially strong in the west. It was organized in Texas 54 years ago and national headquarters are at Denver. It advocates strict production controls and government subsidies direct to farm families.

Other speakers were Johnny Sams, Illinois organization director; Leonard Pound of Fairbanks, Ind., head of the National Farmers Union insurance department, and Louis Helmster, head of the Illinois insurance department. Sams was the opening speaker and he was introduced by John Clark of Arenzville.

Sams invited Morgan farmers to sign up.

Dues are $8.50 a year, plus another $1.50 for the weekly Washington Newsletter. Six dollars go into the state fund, $1.50 remains in the county and $1 goes to the national organization. A county charter is granted when 100 members are signed.

The circuit courtroom was hot and humid Tuesday evening. About 50 persons were present, including small delegations from Cass, Pike and Sangamon counties.

Burglars Flee From Eldred Store; Leave Car Near Road Block

CARROLLTON — An attempt to burglarize the Wildhagen hardware store at Eldred was thwarted at 3 a.m. Wednesday when the burglar alarm sounded, after which road blocks were set up at several points in Greene county in an effort to catch the burglars.

Two men who abandoned a 1940 green Chrysler car a short time after the attempted burglary were trailed on foot for some distance by Sheriff Fred Ballard. The fugitives eluded the officer, who is holding the car.

A checkup by the sheriff showed the license plates were issued to a Decatur, Ill. resident. Several tools which could have been used for burglary were found in the car.

Sheriff Ballard said investigation of the ownership of the car he is holding has not been completed.

The car was abandoned when it approached a roadblock on State Route 108. Two men were seen to get out of the car and walk toward a house. They did not enter, but continued on through the fields.

Investigation at the Eldred hardware store showed that the burglars tried to pry open a transom, touching off mechanism of an alarm which aroused neighbors.

RESCUE CHILD — Bewildered, but apparently none the worse for her experience, 17-month-old Yvonne Beasley, is held by fireman after being rescued from a well shaft in the back yard of her Anderson, S.C., home. She was trapped 33 feet down for four hours and 10 minutes. Rescuers got the child out by digging parallel shaft and reaching her from underneath.

LONG SHOT PAYS OFF

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—It was a long shot but 10-year-old Jill Land got her purse back, after losing it while on a recent trip through the eastern states.

Acting on a hunch that the purse was left in a Woodsville, N. H. restaurant, Mrs. G. D. Land, Jill's mother, decided to write the proprietor.

She did not know the name of the restaurant so she addressed the envelope: "To a restaurant on Highway 112 that sells Swirl ice cream and which is across the street from a motel that has a painting of the Great Stone Face on the side of the building, Woodsville, N. H."

The purse arrived by mail at the Land home Tuesday.

PAYS ARSONIST 36c FOR $127,000 JOB

TAIPEI (AP)—Police today said an arsonist was paid the equivalent of 30 American cents for setting a fire which destroyed $127,000 worth of pressed sugarcane pulp. Police said Lu Shih-hau, 23, told them his uncle, Li Wan-shen, had paid him 10 Formosa dollars (30 cents) to fire the pile. The uncle wanted revenge, because the company had fired him for inefficiency.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

THE STORY: Blue Springs officials have picked a new marshal, St. Hanna, a gun fighter. St. Hanna's first act is to read word by Pike Ambrose to federal Marshal Harvey Blanchard to get out of town. Harney has refused to leave till he gets back a prisoner who was kidnapped from him.

XIV

BLANCHARD pulled me into the dark on the porch. He looked toward Carey's saloon. "You sure it's fight he wants?" I nodded. I was pretty sure it wasn't just talk. I knew how long a walk it would be for Si from the saloon. Enough time for a man to think a lot. I could see where he'd enjoy going up against Blanchard in one way, Si being what he was. But it was one thing to talk fight in the saloon and it was another thing to make a play.

Blanchard sat down and tipped back his hat. He pulled out his gun and broke it and ran a finger over the cylinder. "Pike... you get across the street behind some cover."

"No!"

"Get across the street."

The words slapped me and turned me. I kicked the porch railing to show him I was mad but I didn't say any more.

I went down the steps and looked toward Carey's and then walked across the street. I hunched behind a water barrel so that just my eyes and hat showed. Blanchard was a gray shape in the dark on the porch. I crouched until my knees hurt, then stood up.

Si Hanna came out of the saloon and started walking slow toward the hotel. I went down fast behind the barrel.

I looked at Blanchard. Just the gray shape over there, not moving yet. Si walked faster, a lot faster than I thought he'd come. His heels thumping loud on the planks. Fifteen feet from Blanchard, he stopped.

Two men drifted out of the saloon, walked south 20 feet on the boardwalk and then trotted across the street. Three more came out and stood close to the wall. Lights went out in two rooms on the second floor of the hotel. Then I heard Si.

"You've got to get out of town, marshal."

The words weren't too solid in Si's thin voice but you knew he meant what he said. Then I heard Blanchard.

"Don't crowd me, fellow. I'll listen. If you've got good reasons, I'll go."

There was dead quiet then. Hanna moved and I thought it would happen but it didn't. Blanchard was still in the chair. Why didn't he get out of that chair? That was no way to be when you had to go for a gun. I wanted to yell at him but I couldn't.

Hanna said, "I'll be back in 10 minutes. You be gone."

HANNA turned and started away. I thought he was backing down. By the time he'd moved three steps I knew it was wrong but before I could yell, Hanna turned and his right hand dropped. Somebody yelled, "Stop it, boys!"

It was Jordan Peterson. He was running toward the hotel. I had to admit he had guts but he was too late.

I saw Peterson running and I saw the flame of Hanna's first shot and I heard a woman scream in the hotel. A shape moved on the porch, up and up, and then left the railing in a great arching leap. Two more shots slammed loud from Hanna's gun. Blanchard hit the street and rolled once and came to his knees in a stir of gray dust. The flame and the blast of noise came again, smashing against the buildings. I knew it was Blanchard's gun. Then I could yell and I did. Real loud. The stream of noise cracked against the walls and echoes and died out on the prairie. A patch of gunsmoke drifted slow in the wind by the hotel. Another settled in the street, moving slow away from Blanchard.

Si Hanna's gun flamed again. I tore my eyes from Blanchard, kneeling in the street. Si leaned against a storefront, his gun loose in his hand, smoke curling over him. Then he folded to the boardwalk and once more his gun let go. I heard the tinkle of window glass somewhere in the back of me. Si Hanna was still. I was sure he was dead.

Blanchard rose, slow. He looked toward me. It came to me that I was standing and I wondered if I'd been standing long. I went out to Blanchard. I wasn't thinking that he might be hurt. It never seemed to me that he would be. My throat was so tight I couldn't talk. I picked up his hat and gave it to him. He dropped his gun into his holster and took the hat. He walked to Hanna. He looked at Hanna and then lifted his head to look at Jordan Peterson, who stood like a statue 30 feet away on the boardwalk.

Blanchard said, "That was mighty foolish, Mr. Peterson. You take him now. He's yours. Don't ever say I alone killed him."

WE went to the depot, me and Blanchard, and we were alone there. The depot was dark and I wondered if Conliffe had gone home.

The depot door was locked. We leaned against the wall in the cool dark. Rising wind bit through my shirt and I tried to keep from shivering. Blanchard hadn't said 10 words in the last hour, since Si Hanna died.

The headlight on the train was a nearing brightness, dipping into the prairie, then rising out.

Blanchard said, "Pike... I had to stand up to him."

"Sure you did, Harney."

"It's hard to tell sometimes. You don't know. Maybe you do it just for pride."

Pro Grid Witnesses Say Players' Union Would Solve Problems

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER
WASHINGTON (AP)—A House subcommittee investigating pro sports heard Wednesday that Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League once claimed authority which a judge said belonged to the courts.

The account came from George Ratterman, ex-Notre Dame and NFL quarterback who said Bell fled from him with a $2,000 fine for jumping to the Canadian Football League.

Ratterman said a New Jersey judge told him the league-jumping dispute was a matter for the courts to settle. Ratterman said Bell rejected this view.

The former Notre Dame star was one of a quartet of present and former football luminaries who testified in the House Antitrust subcommittee's survey of pro sports enterprises.

Creighton Miller, a star Notre Dame back of the 1940s, testified that Bell declared last winter he would quit as commissioner if NFL club owners did not recognize a players' association.

The owners refused recognition, but Bell stayed on at what Rep. William E. Miller (R-NY) noted was a raise in pay. Bell, hired by the owners, got a bonus and $10,000 raise—to $40,000 a year—at the league's annual meeting last January.

Miller, attorney for the association, said it represents more than 90 per cent of NFL players from all 12 teams except the Chicago Bears.

His testimony was supported by the two chief players representatives, Norm Van Brocklin, Los Angeles Rams' quarterback, and Kyle Rote, end and captain of the world champion New York Giants.

They contended the type of union NFL players have formed would solve pro football's player-management problems, including an alleged "blacklist" of players who try to become free agents.

NFL contracts give each club a second-year option on its players' services. By not renewing and serving out the second year, the player is nominally free to deal with another club.

It was Ratterman, athlete turned lawyer and pension consultant, who testified of Bell's authority vs. the courts.

Ratterman said he had regarded himself a free agent in 1951 when the now defunct New York Yankees failed, in his view, to assert its option. But he said he was told by Frank Fitzgerald, then Yankee general manager, that no other NFL club would sign him.

Then Ratterman came back in relief for Roger Craig in the eighth of the second game to receive credit for his second win of the day.

Ratterman thereupon crossed the border and played for the Montreal Alouettes. He said the Yankees responded by filing an injunction suit in New Jersey, where he lived. The case was settled out of court when Ratterman finished out the year with the Yankees.

Before the settlement, however, Ratterman said the judge taking evidence had remarked the dispute was one to be resolved in court rather than the commissioner's office.

Ratterman said he passed this on to Bell when the commissioner declared league headquarters would have to approve before he could play again with the Yankees.

"He said he didn't care what the judge in New Jersey said," Ratterman testified.

With his "finances dwindling rapidly," Ratterman said he completed and was dealt a $2,000 fine. He added he paid off $1,200 before the season ended, and the next year, when he was with the Cleveland Browns, Bell told him to forget the balance.

"I got the impression he remitted the balance because I hadn't made a lot of noise about the suit and fine," that if I would be a good boy and go along with things I would save $800," Ratterman said.

CHICAGO (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers rode two dramatic ninth inning rallies to a doubleheader sweep, 3-2 and 2-1, over the Chicago Cubs Wednesday.

Dodger pitcher Ed Roebuck got credit for both victories.

Tied going into the last inning of the first game, the Dodgers powered three straight singles to produce the winning run after two were out. Cub pitcher Bob Rush took his 12th defeat.

Trailing 1-0 in the ninth of the nightcap, the Dodgers blended two singles and two walks with losing pitcher Don Elston's throwing error on an attempted pick off and scored twice.

In closing out the month of July, the third-place Dodgers accounted for 16 victories against 6 setbacks since the All-Star game—the fastest pace in the National League.

Duke Snider poled his 25th and 26th home runs in the opener to start Roebuck toward his second decision of the season.

Then Roebuck came back in relief for Roger Craig in the eighth of the second game to receive credit for his second win of the day.

FAN BREEZES

By STAN SPOTTS

Julian Sheppard reported that the half-mile track was in such excellent shape for today's racing program that he wouldn't be afraid to wager a little dough on Red Woods' Way Yates setting a new track record at the Morgan County Fairgrounds. And he wasn't either! He was ready but when I left, it looked as though he couldn't find any takers. Julie is quite a guy at that. He's a sound bettor, at least it appears he won't make a bet unless he knows what he's talking about.

The only time I've ever questioned Shep's judgment was during last year's JHS basketball season. He bargained that JHS would win more than 17 games, which they did easily after capturing 12 straight during the regular season. There were many, including myself, who were dubious of the Crimsons' pre-season ability but Shep was sold on the boys and he was willing to back them to the hilt. It's like Julie said, "I've lived with these kids in this gym and I know when one of them is having trouble with his free throws or he is hampered by an injury." But John (Chapman, JHS coach) and I always get the kids straightened out sooner or later.

Julie's statement made him sound like a coach but actually he never second guesses John or any of his moves. By the time Regional Tournament rolls around, you can bet your last nickel clear that Shep will be in the crowd discussing the possibilities of the Crimsons moving on to the sectional or the state.

And there's no one more pleased than Julie when the Crimsons bring home the bacon whether it's basketball or football. And that's his nature, no matter what the sport may be. He gets as much thrill out of stock car or harness horse racing by keeping the track in good shape as he does winning a wager. But he's no gambler, he's a sound investor.

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees fattened up on Kansas City again Wednesday, sweeping a doubleheader 2-0 and 5-4 to make it 16 victories in 17 games with the A's this season.

Bill Skowron's eighth-inning single scored Gil McDougald with the winning run in the second game after Mickey Mantle had smashed his 28th homer in support of Bob Turley's five-hit pitching in the opener.

Don Larsen received credit for the second game triumph, his sixth against three losses, despite fielding misplays behind him that made three of the four Kansas City runs unearned. Larsen, allowing only two hits, pitched eight innings and Art Ditmar worked a hitless ninth after Larsen went out for a pinch hitter.

Dark, Wehmeier Star As Cards Beat Giants 5-1 To Keep NL Pace

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Led by Alvin Dark's four hits and the steady seven-hit pitching of Herm Wehmeier, the St. Louis Cardinals stubbornly stayed on the heels of first place Milwaukee Wednesday night by beating the New York Giants, 5-1.

Dark once again was at his best against his former teammates with a perfect 4-for-4 night, all singles, and two runs batted in.

The victory was the eighth in 10 games in the Cardinals' current home stand and kept them a half-game behind the Braves.

Loser Ray Crone started strongly but was rapped for nine hits in his last three turns and was driven out in the seventh.

Bob Buhl, taking his 13th victory against six losses, scattered five singles in earlier innings and then lost a shutout in the ninth when Dick Groat and Bob Skinner doubled and Hank Foles, third of the Pirates' catchers, singled.

Groat scored on the hit by Skinner, who came home on Johnny Logan's fumble of a bouncer by Bill Mazerowski.

Purkey, charged with his 8th loss against 10 victories, gave up homers to Red Schoendienst in the third and Logan in the fifth and was charged with both of the Braves' runs in the sixth.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (U) — Butcher hogs soared to $22.85 Wednesday, highest price in nearly three years. Light receipts and stiff competition among packers for supplies brought the top price — last extended on Aug. 24, 1954, when $23.00 was paid for 51 head of No. 2 grade butchers that averaged 257 pounds.

Hog prices generally were 25 to 80 cents up on butchers and sows. No. 2 and 3 grade butchers scaling 200 to 270 pounds sold from $22.25 to $22.50. Some 2 and 3 scaling 240 to 250 pounds and a few grade 1 and 2s from 200 to 230 pounds sold up to $22.75. Sows 325 to 400 pounds brought $19.50 to $21.00 and lighter weights $21.00 to $21.50.

A few load of prime steers brought $28.50 to $29.00 in the cattle market, the latter figure representing the highest price for steers since last November.

High choice and prime steers sold from $28.50 to $29.00 and choice steers from $25.00 to $26.25. High choice and prime heifers sold for $25.00 to $27.00 and good and choice for $20.50 to $24.75.

The sheep market was mostly steady with good to prime spring lambs selling from $22.50 to $24.50 and slaughter ewes from $5.00 to $7.50.

BUYING HELPS WHEAT, OTHER GRAINS LOWER

By EARL AYKROID
CHICAGO (U) — Buying by flour mills and exporters helped advance wheat futures, but other grains closed mostly lower on the Board of Trade Wednesday.

Brokers representing mill interests reported improved sales of southern wheat flour to domestic bakers with large chain bakers booking requirements to cover the next 60 days. Exporters reportedly were buying wheat against sales of 840,000 bushels of hard wheat to Chile.

New crop wheat closed 1/4 to 1 1/2 higher, corn 1/4 to 1/2 lower, oats unchanged to 1/4 higher, rye 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, soybeans 1/4 to 1/2 lower and 1/4 to 1/2 to 20 cents a hundred pounds lower.

Excellent crop weather and forecasts of moisture over most grain producing areas influenced grain futures generally.

The demand for corn was limited and the feed grain was under pressure of hedging and liquidation most of the trading session. Soybeans, lower at the start, rallied on buying by exporters and processors but then declined again when the demand slackened. Denmark purchased an estimated 500,000 bushels of U. S. soybeans for shipment during September and November and Japan took around 315,000 bushels for November shipment.

New York Stock Market

By ED MORSE
NEW YORK (U) — A minor stock market rally fizzled Wednesday, leaving prices thoroughly mixed at the close.

Steels went to the fore early and their leadership seemed to be persuading some of the motors, nonferrous metals and oils to mount an advance.

From early irregularity the market moved definitely though modestly to the upside. A number of selected issues helped to make the picture look brighter.

But the investment community remained unconvinced by this show of strength and many of the gains and losses among key stocks, running generally from fractions to $2.

The market thus continued its sideways movement since Monday's sharp break, without any apparent enthusiasm either for a recovery or a further relapse. There was little in the way of news to spur it either way.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose a minimum 10 cents to $185.10 with both the industrial and rail components unchanged and with the utilities up 20 cents.

Volume totaled 1,830,000 shares compared with 1,780,000 Tuesday, remaining below the two-million-share mark for the ninth straight session.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Volume totaled 330,000 shares compared with 760,000 Tuesday.

Ike Will Propose New School Bill Next Year

business will offer me a million dollars to sell out, he is going to make a sale in a hurry."

When he first took office, he said, he put everything he owned, except a little cash, in an irrevocable trust. While he is president, he said, "I do not even know what I own, so that no judgment of mine can ever be influenced by any fancied advantage I could get out of a relatively modest holdings in anything."

Gluck Appointment

Eisenhower got hot under the collar when a reporter inquired about his appointment, confirmed by the Senate, of Maxwell Gluck, dress store chain official, to be ambassador to Ceylon.

Gluck had testified to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that he gave the Republican party around $10,000 in 1952 and $20,000 or $30,000 in 1953. He was unable to name the prime ministers of Ceylon or India. He explained Wednesday he knew the names but couldn't pronounce them.

Chalmers M. Roberts of the Washington Post and Times Herald asked the President whether he was "aware when you nominated Mr. Gluck to be ambassador to Ceylon of either the extent of his contribution to the Republican Party or his now recorded ignorance of affairs in that part of the world."

Ike Gets Angry

Eisenhower reddened, thrust out his jaw and glared. In a voice vibrating with anger, he said that "if anybody is ever recommended to me on the basis of any contribution he has ever made to any political party, that man will never be considered."

"I never heard it mentioned to me as a consideration," he said, "and I don't take it very kindly as suggesting I would be influenced by such things."

Gluck, he said, was highly recommended by people he respects, FBI reports on him were good, and while he never had been to Ceylon he certainly can learn about it "if he is the kind of character and kind of man we believe him to be."

Leadership Question

The leadership question kept recurring.

Eisenhower said he never had heard that influential Democrats had complained they couldn't get White House cooperation on enacting a foreign aid bill. If anybody wants to cooperate, he said, he has a liaison staff available.

He said he never had heard, either, that House Democrats had come around to supporting the administration school bill and complained that it was lost because he "failed to go to bat for the legislation."

Eisenhower said he had been speaking up for federal aid to help meet the classroom shortage since 1952. He said he thought the bill this year was deficient in failing to stress properly the idea of gearing the amount of aid to a state to the amount of need. And he said he wasn't enthusiastic about something that "is likely to fasten a sort of an embargo . . . around the neck of the federal government."

But he said he would have signed the bill anyway.

Buddy Will Escort Heimlich Body Here

The Jacksonville family of Technical Sergeant Warren Heimlich of this city has been informed by the Marine Corps that the body of the Jacksonville Marine, who was killed in an explosion in the Fiji Islands Wednesday, July 24, will be flown from Tokyo, Japan to the California coast and be sent then by rail to this city.

No further details of the death were available at this time. The remains were shipped from Japan on Tuesday and another wire will inform the family here of the expected arrival in Jacksonville where the body will be taken to the Williamson funeral home.

The time of service will be announced there. Burial will be made in Diamond Grove cemetery.

Mrs. Bernice Heimlich, grandmother of the deceased who was reared in her home, a sister, Mrs. Richard Lynn of this city and her brother, Ronald Heimlich, of Chicago sent a request to Washington that the military escort accompany the body to Jacksonville if at all possible be Master Sergeant Gerald Spratt, a close and long time friend of Technical Sergeant Heimlich. The Corps honored the request and made arrangements for M. Sgt. Spratt, a resident of Santa Ana, Calif., and stationed at the El Toro Marine Base in that state, to accompany the body to Jacksonville.

T. Sgt. Heimlich and M. Sgt. Spratt were close friends for years both having served the Corps in overseas duty at Oslo, Norway.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS
AP News Analyst

The case of Maxwell Gluck, new ambassador to Ceylon, has now gone beyond mere consideration of his business qualifications and his ability to learn the background of the job.

President Eisenhower appeared quite quiet Wednesday when asked about Gluck at a news conference.

Gluck, you will recall, was caught short on his Asiatic background when the Senate Foreign Relations Committee questioned him. He couldn't name the Ceylonese prime minister and was hazy about India's Nehru.

That led to published charges that his appointment was due entirely to his large contributions to the last Republican presidential campaign.

Nobody will question the President's red-faced assertion that he didn't and wouldn't appoint anyone for such a reason. Gluck's name wasn't presented to him from that angle, he said. This at least is the common sense of the friends who did the recommending. There is bound to be wonderment, however, as to whether Eisenhower is as angry with these advisers as he appeared to be with the news conference question.

As the President said, Gluck, operator of a chain of dress shops, has proven business ability and presumably can absorb the State Department briefings on Ceylon.

But strongly worded Ceylonese protests are beginning to come in, and even if he goes ahead with the assignment his effectiveness has been damaged. The Ceylonese call the appointment an insult.

Ceylon is in a transitory stage. Sirisiri Lefterides has appeared. She remains a part of the Commonwealth, led but not ruled by Britain. But she has listened to Communist protests against the foreign military bases which surround Russia, and is requiring Britain to evacuate her famous Trincomalee naval base and air installations.

Every effort needs to be made to build up the Ceylonese faith in the West. It is doubtful if an ambassador who has in the past taken little interest in the problem can make a very great contribution to this cause. And in Ceylon, where most of the Western Entente's business is conducted by Britain, this is the main part of an American ambassador's job.

The Edward Hopper family, 223 Caldwell street, received a wire Tuesday night from Mrs. Hopper's sister and family, who live in Mexico City, Mexico. She is the former Ruth Broehl of Elkhart, Ill., and formerly attended Illinois College.

There were plenty of witnesses on hand Wednesday evening when Miss Glenna Russwinkel and Jim Mason were married at the fair grounds.

Rev. William J. Boston officiated.

In remarks that fitted the occasion the pastor stated "marriage is a sacred institution, and where the ceremony is performed matters little. The sacredness must be in the hearts of the husband and wife, whether the marriage is held in the church, or in the home, or here in the open before a multitude of friends."

"I hope that you, Glenna, and you, Jim, will have a most happy and fruitful married life and that you will celebrate your 50th wedding anniversary by coming to the Morgan County Fair."

Miss Russwinkel is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Russwinkel, 1140 Hardin avenue. She was given in marriage by her father.

The ceremony was also attended by the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Mason, rural route 4, Jacksonville.

laced with three-quarter length sleeves. She carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations.

Civil Defense Group Stresses Need For Public Cooperation

"To help the public understand what Civil Defense means to the individual is one of our most pressing problems!" was the content of a statement made by John Linebaugh Wednesday evening at the second meeting of the Jacksonville Civil Defense committee.

Mr. Linebaugh went on to say that public education gives the people an idea of what could and might happen at any time.

He stated that through the Air Force and the Civil Defense committee it is possible to set up club programs whereby the public as a whole can be educated to the dangers of being unprepared for any kind of a disaster.

Already on the agenda for the public education group are seven service club and P.T.A. meetings. There are films, slides, charts, pamphlets and other material plus qualified speakers available for such programs.

Although Jacksonville is not listed as a critical area, the city is in the fallout area of five of the major targets in Illinois, two of which have a number one priority.

Wilfrid Rice stated that it is possible at any time to set up classes with trained instructors and to bring strategic equipment for demonstration if a class of twenty pupils can be guaranteed.

Dr. Vincent T. J. Lenth, Civil Defense Director, ordered the committees working on the formation of an auxiliary fire and police department to "proceed as rapidly as possible" with their work. Captain LeRoy Leach of the police department and Chief Howard Reynolds of the fire department are both assisting along this line.

The problem was discussed as to proper identification for members of the Civil Defense staff in case of an emergency. Arm bands and white helmets were suggested.

Other problems discussed included the possible organization of a Civil Air Patrol and of a Civilian Medical Corp. Dr. James Chapman has begun work on the latter suggestion having already contacted some of the members for his committee. Also taken up was the problem of a central office for the Director of Civil Defense and Disaster in an easily accessible place. The office of Chief of Police Ike Flynn which can be reached through the police department was suggested and marked for further investigation.

Committee members attending the meeting other than those mentioned above included Mayor DuBois, Major Henri Serrais, Byron Holkenbrink, Cecil Wegehoff of the Red Cross, Carl Orr, LeeRoy Jackson and Paul Wahl.

The committee will not meet in August. The next meeting will be held in early September. Dr. Lenth expressed the desire to see "all committee and sub-committee members" present at the September meeting.

Bell X2 Hits Speed Of 2,260 MPH Before Crashing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force announced officially Wednesday that the Bell X2 Rocket airplane attained an unprecedented speed of 2,260 miles an hour just before it crashed last September in California.

Maj. Gen. John W. Sessums Jr., commander of the Air Research and Development Command, gave this word to the convention here of the Air Force Assn. He said the speed attained in the X2 by Capt. Milburn Apt was nearly four times the muzzle velocity of a 45 caliber pistol bullet. Apt was killed in the crash.

Emphasizing the speeds of modern aircraft, Sessums said the Convair B38 bomber, weighing 130,000 pounds, has gone faster than twice the speed of a 45 bullet, or 1,130 miles an hour, while the Lockheed F104 fighter will outrun a 16-inch shell.

The Air Force also announced for the first time that "re-entry bodies" discharged from the Lockheed X17 research rocket have returned from hundreds of miles above the earth's surface without burning up in the intense air friction heat.

Maj. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever head of the ARDC ballistic missile division, disclosed that "numerous ballistic missile test nose cones" carried aloft by the X17 have passed successfully through the heat of re-entry into the earth's atmosphere.
